Queen Elizabeth II's former

childhood residence

InterContinental London Park Lane stands proudly today on the very site of 145 Piccadilly, Queen Elizabeth II's former childhood residence. Historical accounts recall a white terraced building, indistinguishable from those on either side of it. There was a semi-basement kitchen, "like the giant's kitchen in a pantomime with its immense shiny copper pots and great fire-range", Lisa Sheridan.

An extensive garden at the back, shared with other houses, added an element of community. Elizabeth lived in a suite of rooms at the top of the house, consisting of a day nursery, a night nursery and a bathroom linked by a landing, with wide windows looking down on the park. It was not unusual for her nanny to put her in her pram and take a two-hour stroll through Mayfair into Hyde Park.

Royal History at InterContinental London Park Lane

Other stories relating to Elizabeth's childhood at 145 Piccadilly told of the Princess allegedly playing games by fetching a small toy, such as a teddy bear or a ball, and dropping it from the nursery landing down the stairwell onto visitors as they arrived at the house.

The best modern day representation of the late Queen's childhood at 145 Piccadilly can be found in the multiple Oscar-winning film, The King's Speech. Scenes of the young family trying their best to enjoy London life in the heart of Mayfair during the years of the Depression were actually filmed at 33 Portland Place, but the so-called "shabby chic" interiors are said to be in keeping with the style of the house at that time.

145 Piccadilly was to suffer the same fate as many in London during the war, being destroyed in the blitz. Between 1968 and 1975, work began by Sir Frederick Gibberd on the design and construction of the luxury hotel InterContinental London Park Lane, whose other notable designs include Liverpool Metropolitan Cathedral and London Central Mosque in Regent's Park.

The hotel was opened by His Grace the 8th Duke of Wellington, Arthur Wellesley on 23rd September 1975.

Theo Randall's passion for food was born from regular family holidays across Europe and from a young age he was destined for a culinary future. His career began as a waiter at London's acclaimed Chez Max and after only a few weeks, Max Magarian noted Theo's talents and invited him to work in the kitchen where he spent the next four years following an apprenticeship in classic French cuisine.

In 1989, Theo joined the up-and-coming River Café and quickly found his culinary home. Theo remained at River Café for a further 15 years as head chef and it was under his patronage that the restaurant received its first Michelin star in 1997.

He then left to launch Theo Randall at the InterContinental, which opened in November 2006.

His commitment to delivering rustic produce-driven Italian food from the prestigious address of No. 1 Park Lane has earned him loyal followers and rave reviews from critics and food-lovers.

The ultimate summertime dining experience

Expect bold, authentic Italian flavours and twists on well-loved classics served on bright ceramics from Vietri on the Amalfi Coast. Chef Theo Randall blends the best seasonal ingredients with hand-picked Italian imports to create rustic fare unique to the dishes served at eateries across Italian coastal towns.

A selection of antipasti features mouth-watering bites such as our Tagliere di salumi – a selection of Italian cured meats with agrodolce and tapenade crostini. Summery main courses include insalate, Italian classics and sicilian-style pizza al taglio with a choice of margherita, prosciutto crudo & parmigiano or piccante. End your meal the Italian way with an indulgent sweet treat. Choose from a classic tiramisu, affogato, seasonal sorbet or Theo's signature gelato.

OVERLOOKING LONDON'S LANDMARKS

AT THE WELLINGTON LOUNGE

The Wellington Lounge is an ideal meeting place for an early morning coffee and pastries, famed afternoon tea or an all-day-menu featuring classic seasonal dishes.

Standing proudly on the former site of 145 Piccadilly?Queen Elizabeth II?s former childhood home?the Wellington Lounge pays respect to its heritage by offering traditional afternoon tea with a modern twist for an experience fit for royalty. Our team has created an extensive menu of teas with the East India Company, complementing the various dishes available. Blending the best of tradition with contemporary twists, the menu presents a style to suit all tastes.

Immerse yourself in a truly regal experience at The Wellington Lounge every day from 1 pm to 5 pm, with live music from 1.30 pm to 5.30 pm, Thursday through Sunday.

A semi-private corner lounge is available to accommodate small events and group reservations of 15 people or less. You can also enjoy live music from 7.30 pm, Thursday to Saturday.

A tale of two Elizabeths

From the ?Royal Warrant? Salmon & Caviar Bliss and Monarch?s Coronation Chicken Royale, inspired by Elizabeth II?s famous 1953 coronation dish, to the Elizabeth I Syllabub, a pastry royally adorned with a sable as a nod to the Virgin Queen?s love of these sweet confections, this symbolic spread celebrates the reigns of these two majestic monarchs.

Hand-selected by Tea Master, Lalith Lenadora, our new tea menu features over 20 infusions from across the globe, including three exclusively curated blends, such as the Elizabeth II, crafted with rooibos from South Africa, vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals as an ode to the Commonwealth.

ELIZABETHAN ROYAL TEA

A tale of two Elizabeths

Centuries may separate Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II's reigns, yet here, at InterContinental London Park Lane on the site of our late queen's former childhood residence, their tales intertwine.

Together, their shared love for decadent teas and confections shaped the sophisticated tradition of afternoon tea as we know it.

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present. Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat. No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Your royal treatment continues with bespoke tea blends inspired by the two queens, created exclusively for InterContinental London Park Lane by The East India Company.

The Elizabeth I blend is a regal infusion of Ceylon black tea. Hints of clove, nutmeg, sweet almond and orange, highly prized spices of the era, evoke the grandeur of Queen Elizabeth I's reign.

Meanwhile, the Elizabeth II blend celebrates Her Majesty's voyages across the Commonwealth, blending rooibos from South Africa with vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals.

Web Scraped Data

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant. For a final treat, savour exquisite chocolates and truffles by Charbonnel et Walker, Britain's first luxury chocolatier and also a Royal Warrant holder.

As you sip, taste and enjoy the delights of this Elizabethan Royal Tea, an ode to two remarkable queens, feel transformed by a regal grace that lingers long after your final bite.

Black Teas & Black Tea Blends

ROYAL BREAKFAST

This blend has teas selected from the misty hills of Ceylon, known for their brightness and floral notes, and from the lush estates of Assam to bring out malty and rich characters.

ROYAL FLUSH, SRI LANKA

In 1954, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip made their first state visit to Ceylon, and our Royal Flush black tea is harvested from bushes propagated from the original bush planted by HRH Prince Philip during their visit. This well-balanced Orange Pekoe is bright, delicate and beautifully smooth.

ASSAM SECOND FLUSH TGFOP

This Assam tea is notable for its beautiful leaf style. The rich black tea comes from a single estate in Assam, with the highest tippy leaves, brewing a deep copper liquid with a smooth and malty body.

DARJEELING DIRECTOR'S RESERVE NAMRING ESTATE

A bright, delicate second flush picked from The East India Company's private reserve in Darjeeling's Namring Estate. An abundance of silver tippy leaf, produces the signature muscatel note.

THE STAUNTON EARL GREY

Using an authentic recipe, first described by The East India Company's officer, George Staunton, in 1700's China, this tea blends the finest neroli and bergamot oils to create a distinctive Earl Grey.

IMPERIAL QING LAPSANG SOUCHONG

From the Fujian province of China, this black tea is dried over a pine fire, to give a sweet, smoky flavour.

TRADITIONAL KARAK

Fragrant ginger and a blend of natural spices of peppercorn, cardamom and cloves give this Sri Lankan black tea intense and warming flavours.

A tale of two Elizabeths

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant.

A regal experience

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat.

No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Exquisite blends

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

Hand-selected by Tea Master, Lalith Lenadora, our new tea menu features over 20 infusions from across the globe, including three exclusively curated blends, such as the Elizabeth II, crafted with rooibos from South Africa, vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals as an ode to the Commonwealth.

The Wellington Lounge

The Wellington Lounge is an ideal meeting place for an early morning coffee and pastries, famed afternoon tea or an all-day menu featuring classic seasonal dishes.

ELIZABETHAN ROYAL TEA

A tale of two Elizabeths

Centuries may separate Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II's reigns, yet here, at InterContinental London Park Lane on the site of our late queen's former childhood residence, their tales intertwine.

Together, their shared love for decadent teas and confections shaped the sophisticated tradition of afternoon tea as we know it.

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present. Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat. No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Your royal treatment continues with bespoke tea blends inspired by the two queens, created exclusively for InterContinental London Park Lane by The East India Company.

The Elizabeth I blend is a regal infusion of Ceylon black tea. Hints of clove, nutmeg, sweet almond and orange, highly prized spices of the era, evoke the grandeur of Queen Elizabeth I's reign.

Meanwhile, the Elizabeth II blend celebrates Her Majesty's voyages across the Commonwealth, blending rooibos from South Africa with vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals.

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant. For a final treat, savour exquisite chocolates and truffles by Charbonnel et Walker, Britain's first luxury chocolatier and also a Royal Warrant holder.

Green Teas

LUNG CHING DRAGONWELL

Named after the Dragon Well village in Hangzhou, China, this variety of green tea was once a favourite of emperor Kang Xi. Pressed and fired in a wok, it has a refreshingly sweet and delicate flavour.

SENCHA

Sencha, or 'new tea', is made from the first harvest or flush of spring, full of nutrients developed over their dormancy period in winter. With grassy and vegetal notes, it's an ideal tea to revitalise the mind.

PREMIUM GYOKURO

Gyokuro, or 'jade dew', is one of Japan's most precious teas. The tea bushes spend a minimum of three weeks in the shade before being harvested, yielding a distinct sweet, grassy flavour.

MATCHA

A vibrant and smooth green brew that provides a unique experience in the world of tea. With a creamy froth on top, its scent is subtle with a mix of grassy, nutty and earthy notes.

Oolong Teas

DRAGON EYE

A semi-fermented Oolong or 'Wu Long', the Dragon Eye is a light-bodied tea, high in antioxidants and delicate buttery notes.

MI LAN DAN CONG

With subtle fruit notes, this smooth Oolong comes from a plantation on the lower slopes of China's Wu Dong mountain. The leaves are fermented and baked, making a rich, floral and honeyed tea.

The distinctive blend has a grounded, floral and citrus character reminiscent of Queen Elizabeth I's reign.

ELIZABETH II: ODE TO THE COMMONWEALTH

A taste of Elizabeth II's vast Commonwealth travels in a single cup. Honouring our late queen, this tea blends rooibos from South Africa, vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals. The floral-forward notes of this delightful tea embody Elizabeth II's enduring grace and commitment.

NO 1 PARK LANE

Flavoured black tea from Sri Lanka using Sri Lankan vanilla and large leaf tea from Ceylon, this distinctive scented tea has a sweet and creamy character.

Black Teas & Black Tea Blends

ROYAL BREAKFAST

This blend has teas selected from the misty hill of Ceylon, known for their brightness and floral notes, and from the lush estates of Assam to bring out malty and rich characters.

ROYAL FLUSH, SRI LANKA

In 1954, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip made their first state visit to Ceylon, and our Royal Flush black tea is harvested from bushes propagated from the original bush planted by

Web Scraped Data

HRH Prince Philip during their visit. This well-balanced Orange Pekoe is bright, delicate and beautifully smooth.

ASSAM SECOND FLUSH TGFOP

This Assam tea is notable for its beautiful leaf style. The rich black tea comes from a single estate in Assam, with the highest tippy leaves, brewing a deep copper liquid with a smooth and malty body.

A bright, delicate second flush picked from The East India Company's private reserve in Darjeeling's

Namring Estate. An abundance of silver tippy leaf, produces the signature muscatel note.

THE STAUNTON EARL GREY

Using an authentic recipe, first described by The East India Company's officer, George Staunton, in 1700's China, this tea blends the finest neroli and bergamot oils to create a distinctive Earl Grey.

IMPERIAL QING LAPSANG SOUCHONG

From the Fujian province of China, this black tea is dried over a pine fire, to give a sweet, smoky flavour.

TRADITIONAL KARAK

Fragrant ginger and a blend of natural spices of peppercorn, cardamom and cloves give this Sri Lankan black tea intense and warming flavours.

History of Beef Wellington

Web Scraped Data

A dish renowned for its luxury and elegance, Beef Wellington has a fascinating history interwoven with culinary traditions and notable historical figures.

O R I G I N

The most popular theory links Beef Wellington to Arthur Wellesley, the first Duke of Wellington, who famously defeated Napoleon at the Battle of Waterloo in 1815.

The dish is believed to have been named in his honour, possibly because its appearance resembled the highly polished military boots he wore in battle, known as 'Wellingtons'.

Some food historians propose that Beef Wellington is an adaptation of the traditional French dish 'filet de bœuf en croûte' (fillet of beef in pastry). The British may have embraced and renamed this dish during or after the Napoleonic Wars.

D I D Y O U K N O W ?

Apsley House, the distinguished London townhouse of the Duke of Wellington, is situated at Hyde Park Corner, directly to the west of our hotel, and faces the grand roundabout where the iconic Wellington Arch stands proudly at its heart.

Queen Elizabeth II's former
childhood residence

InterContinental London Park Lane stands proudly today on the very site of 145 Piccadilly, Queen Elizabeth II's former childhood residence. Historical accounts recall a white terraced building, indistinguishable from those on either side of it. There was a semi-basement kitchen, "like the giant's kitchen in a pantomime with its immense shiny copper pots and great fire-range", Lisa Sheridan.

An extensive garden at the back, shared with other houses, added an element of community. Elizabeth lived in a suite of rooms at the top of the house, consisting of a day nursery, a night nursery and a bathroom linked by a landing, with wide windows looking down on the park. It was not unusual for her nanny to put her in her pram and take a two-hour stroll through Mayfair into Hyde Park.

Royal History at InterContinental London Park Lane

Other stories relating to Elizabeth's childhood at 145 Piccadilly told of the Princess allegedly playing games by fetching a small toy, such as a teddy bear or a ball, and dropping it from the nursery landing down the stairwell onto visitors as they arrived at the house.

The best modern day representation of the late Queen's childhood at 145 Piccadilly can be found in the multiple Oscar-winning film, The King's Speech. Scenes of the young family trying their best to enjoy London life in the heart of Mayfair during the years of the Depression were actually filmed at 33 Portland Place, but the so-called "shabby chic" interiors are said to be in keeping with the style of the house at that time.

145 Piccadilly was to suffer the same fate as many in London during the war, being destroyed in the blitz. Between 1968 and 1975, work began by Sir Frederick Gibberd on the design and construction of the luxury hotel InterContinental London Park Lane, whose other notable designs include Liverpool Metropolitan Cathedral and London Central Mosque in Regent's Park.

The hotel was opened by His Grace the 8th Duke of Wellington, Arthur Wellesley on 23rd September 1975.

Queen Elizabeth II's former

childhood residence

InterContinental London Park Lane stands proudly today on the very site of 145 Piccadilly, Queen Elizabeth II's former childhood residence. Historical accounts recall a white terraced building, indistinguishable from those on either side of it. There was a semi-basement kitchen, "like the giant's kitchen in a pantomime with its immense shiny copper pots and great fire-range", Lisa Sheridan.

An extensive garden at the back, shared with other houses, added an element of community. Elizabeth lived in a suite of rooms at the top of the house, consisting of a day nursery, a night nursery and a bathroom linked by a landing, with wide windows looking down on the park. It was not unusual for her nanny to put her in her pram and take a two-hour stroll through Mayfair into Hyde Park.

Royal History at InterContinental London Park Lane

Other stories relating to Elizabeth's childhood at 145 Piccadilly told of the Princess allegedly playing games by fetching a small toy, such as a teddy bear or a ball, and dropping it from the nursery landing down the stairwell onto visitors as they arrived at the house.

The best modern day representation of the late Queen's childhood at 145 Piccadilly can be found in the multiple Oscar-winning film, The King's Speech. Scenes of the young family trying their best to enjoy London life in the heart of Mayfair during the years of the Depression were actually filmed at 33 Portland Place, but the so-called 'shabby chic' interiors are said to be in keeping with the style of the house at that time.

145 Piccadilly was to suffer the same fate as many in London during the war, being destroyed in the blitz. Between 1968 and 1975, work began by Sir Frederick Gibberd on the design and construction of the luxury hotel InterContinental London Park Lane, whose other notable designs include Liverpool Metropolitan Cathedral and London Central Mosque in Regent's Park.

The hotel was opened by His Grace the 8th Duke of Wellington, Arthur Wellesley on 23rd September 1975.

Theo Randall's passion for food was born from regular family holidays across Europe and from a young age he was destined for a culinary future.

His career began as a waiter at London's acclaimed Chez Max and after only a few weeks, Max Magarian noted Theo's talents and invited him to work in the kitchen where he spent the next four years following an apprenticeship in classic French cuisine.

In 1989, Theo joined the up-and-coming River Café and quickly found his culinary home. Theo remained at River Café for a further 15 years as head chef and it was under his patronage that the restaurant received its first Michelin star in 1997.

He then left to launch Theo Randall at the InterContinental, which opened in November 2006. His commitment to delivering rustic produce-driven Italian food from the prestigious address of No. 1 Park Lane has earned him loyal followers and rave reviews from critics and food-lovers.

Theo Randall's passion for food was born from regular family holidays across Europe and from a young age he was destined for a culinary future. His career began as a waiter at London's acclaimed Chez Max and after only a few weeks, Max Magarian noted Theo's talents and invited him to work in the kitchen where he spent the next four years following an apprenticeship in classic French cuisine. In 1989, Theo joined the up-and-coming River Café and quickly found his culinary home. Theo remained at River Café for a further 15 years as head chef and it was under his patronage that the restaurant received its first Michelin star in 1997.

He then left to launch Theo Randall at the InterContinental, which opened in November 2006. His commitment to delivering rustic produce-driven Italian food from the prestigious address of No. 1 Park Lane has earned him loyal followers and rave reviews from critics and food-lovers.

Theo Randall's passion for food was born from regular family holidays across Europe and from a young age he was destined for a culinary future.

His career began as a waiter at London's acclaimed Chez Max and after only a few weeks, Max Magarian noted Theo's talents and invited him to work in the kitchen where he spent the next four years following an apprenticeship in classic French cuisine.

In 1989, Theo joined the up-and-coming River Café and quickly found his culinary home. Theo remained at River Café for a further 15 years as head chef and it was under his patronage that the restaurant received its first Michelin star in 1997.

He then left to launch Theo Randall at the InterContinental, which opened in November 2006. His commitment to delivering rustic produce-driven Italian food from the prestigious address of No. 1 Park Lane has earned him loyal followers and rave reviews from critics and food-lovers.

OVERLOOKING LONDON'S LANDMARKS

AT THE WELLINGTON LOUNGE

The Wellington Lounge is an ideal meeting place for an early morning coffee and pastries, famed afternoon tea or an all-day-menu featuring classic seasonal dishes.

Standing proudly on the former site of 145 Piccadilly, Queen Elizabeth II's former childhood home, the Wellington Lounge pays respect to its heritage by offering traditional afternoon tea with a modern twist for an experience fit for royalty. Our team has created an extensive menu of teas with the East India Company, complementing the various dishes available. Blending the best of tradition with contemporary twists, the menu presents a style to suit all tastes.

Immerse yourself in a truly regal experience at The Wellington Lounge every day from 1 pm to 5 pm, with live music from 1.30 pm to 5.30 pm, Thursday through Sunday.

A semi-private corner lounge is available to accommodate small events and group reservations of 15 people or less. You can also enjoy live music from 7.30 pm, Thursday to Saturday.

Elizabethan Royal Tea

Join us for a luxurious afternoon tea inspired by the legacies of the late Queen Elizabeth I and II, whose shared love for decadent teas and confections shaped the tradition of afternoon tea.

Take a seat in the opulent surroundings of the Wellington Lounge for an afternoon of beautifully hand-crafted savoury finger sandwiches, delicate cakes and homemade scones, all served on beautiful new Wedgewood English bone china.

A tale of two Elizabeths

From the 'Royal Warrant' Salmon & Caviar Bliss and Monarch's Coronation Chicken Royale, inspired by Elizabeth II's famous 1953 coronation dish, to the Elizabeth I Syllabub, a pastry royally adorned with a sable as a nod to the Virgin Queen's love of these sweet confections, this symbolic spread celebrates the reigns of these two majestic monarchs.

Hand-selected by Tea Master, Lalith Lenadora, our new tea menu features over 20 infusions from across the globe, including three exclusively curated blends, such as the Elizabeth II, crafted with rooibos from South Africa, vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals as an ode to the Commonwealth.

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen?s affinity for the treat. No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Your royal treatment continues with bespoke tea blends inspired by the two queens, created exclusively for InterContinental London Park Lane by The East India Company.

The Elizabeth I blend is a regal infusion of Ceylon black tea. Hints of clove, nutmeg, sweet almond and orange, highly prized spices of the era, evoke the grandeur of Queen Elizabeth I's reign.

Meanwhile, the Elizabeth II blend celebrates Her Majesty's voyages across the Commonwealth, blending rooibos from South Africa with vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals.

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant. For a final treat, savour exquisite chocolates and truffles by Charbonnel et Walker, Britain's first luxury chocolatier and also a Royal Warrant holder.

As you sip, taste and enjoy the delights of this Elizabethan Royal Tea, an ode to two remarkable queens, feel transformed by a regal grace that lingers long after your final bite.

ELIZABETHAN ROYAL TEA

A tale of two Elizabeths

Centuries may separate Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II?s reigns, yet here, at InterContinental London

Park Lane on the site of our late queen?s former childhood residence, their tales intertwine.

Together, their shared love for decadent teas and confections shaped the sophisticated tradition of afternoon tea as we know it.

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present.

Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Web Scraped Data

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat. No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Your royal treatment continues with bespoke tea blends inspired by the two queens, created exclusively for InterContinental London Park Lane by The East India Company.

The Elizabeth I blend is a regal infusion of Ceylon black tea. Hints of clove, nutmeg, sweet almond and orange, highly prized spices of the era, evoke the grandeur of Queen Elizabeth I's reign. Meanwhile, the Elizabeth II blend celebrates Her Majesty's voyages across the Commonwealth, blending rooibos from South Africa with vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals.

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant. For a final treat, savour exquisite chocolates and truffles by Charbonnel et Walker, Britain's first luxury chocolatier and also a Royal Warrant holder.

As you sip, taste and enjoy the delights of this Elizabethan Royal Tea, an ode to two remarkable queens, feel transformed by a regal grace that lingers long after your final bite.

Black Teas & Black Tea Blends

ROYAL BREAKFAST

This blend has teas selected from the misty hills of Ceylon, known for their brightness and floral notes, and from the lush estates of Assam to bring out malty and rich characters.

ROYAL FLUSH, SRI LANKA

In 1954, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip made their first state visit to Ceylon, and our Royal Flush black tea is harvested from bushes propagated from the original bush planted by HRH Prince Philip during their visit. This well-balanced Orange Pekoe is bright, delicate and beautifully smooth.

ASSAM SECOND FLUSH TGFOP

This Assam tea is notable for its beautiful leaf style. The rich black tea comes from a single estate in Assam, with the highest tippy leaves, brewing a deep copper liquid with Namring Estate. An abundance of silver tippy leaf, produces the signature muscatel note.

THE STAUNTON EARL GREY

Using an authentic recipe, first described by The East India Company's officer, George Staunton, in 1700's China, this tea blends the finest neroli and bergamot oils to create a distinctive Earl Grey.

A tale of two Elizabeths

From the 'Royal Warrant' Salmon & Caviar Bliss and Monarch's Coronation Chicken Royale, inspired by Elizabeth II's famous 1953 coronation dish, to the Elizabeth I Syllabub, a pastry royally

Hand-selected by Tea Master, Lalith Lenadora, our new tea menu features over 20 infusions from across the globe, including three exclusively curated blends, such as the Elizabeth II, crafted with rooibos from South Africa, vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals as an ode to the Commonwealth.

ELIZABETHAN ROYAL TEA

A tale of two Elizabeths

Centuries may separate Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II?s reigns, yet here, at InterContinental London Park Lane on the site of our late queen?s former childhood residence, their tales intertwine. Together, their shared love for decadent teas and confections shaped the sophisticated tradition of afternoon tea as we know it.

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present. Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat. No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Your royal treatment continues with bespoke tea blends inspired by the two queens, created exclusively for InterContinental London Park Lane by The East India Company.

The Elizabeth I blend is a regal infusion of Ceylon black tea. Hints of clove, nutmeg, sweet almond and orange, highly prized spices of the era, evoke the grandeur of Queen Elizabeth I's reign. Meanwhile, the Elizabeth II blend celebrates Her Majesty's voyages across the Commonwealth, blending rooibos from South Africa with vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals.

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant. For a final treat, savour exquisite chocolates and truffles by Charbonnel et Walker, Britain's first luxury chocolatier and also a Royal Warrant holder.

As you sip, taste and enjoy the delights of this Elizabethan Royal Tea, an ode to two remarkable queens, feel transformed by a regal grace that lingers long after your final bite.

This blend has teas selected from the misty hills of Ceylon, known for their brightness and floral notes, and from the lush estates of Assam to bring out malty and rich characters.

ROYAL FLUSH, SRI LANKA

In 1954, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip made their first state visit to Ceylon, and our Royal Flush black tea is harvested from bushes propagated from the original bush planted by HRH Prince Philip during their visit. This well-balanced Orange Pekoe is bright, delicate and beautifully smooth.

A tale of two Elizabeths

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant.

A regal experience

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat.

No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Exquisite blends

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

Hand-selected by Tea Master, Lalith Lenadora, our new tea menu features over 20 infusions from across the globe, including three exclusively curated blends, such as the Elizabeth II, crafted with rooibos from South Africa, vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals as an ode to the Commonwealth.

The Wellington Lounge

The Wellington Lounge is an ideal meeting place for an early morning coffee and pastries, famed afternoon tea or an all-day menu featuring classic seasonal dishes.

ELIZABETHAN ROYAL TEA

A tale of two Elizabeths

Centuries may separate Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II's reigns, yet here, at InterContinental London Park Lane on the site of our late queen's former childhood residence, their tales intertwine.

Together, their shared love for decadent teas and confections shaped the sophisticated tradition of afternoon tea as we know it.

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present. Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat. No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Your royal treatment continues with bespoke tea blends inspired by the two queens, created exclusively for InterContinental London Park Lane by The East India Company.

The Elizabeth I blend is a regal infusion of Ceylon black tea. Hints of clove, nutmeg, sweet almond and orange, highly prized spices of the era, evoke the grandeur of Queen Elizabeth I's reign.

Meanwhile, the Elizabeth II blend celebrates Her Majesty's voyages across the Commonwealth, blending rooibos from South Africa with vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals.

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant. For a final treat, savour exquisite chocolates and truffles by Charbonnel et Walker, Britain's first luxury chocolatier and also a Royal Warrant holder.

As you sip, taste and enjoy the delights of this Elizabethan Royal Tea, an ode to two remarkable queens, feel transformed by a regal grace that lingers long after your final bite.

ROYAL FLUSH, SRI LANKA

This well-balanced Orange Pekoe is bright, delicate and beautifully smooth.

A regal experience

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat.

No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Exquisite blends

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

Hand-selected by Tea Master, Lalith Lenadora, our new tea menu features over 20 infusions from across the globe, including three exclusively curated blends, such as the Elizabeth II, crafted with rooibos from South Africa, vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals as an ode to the Commonwealth.

The Wellington Lounge

The Wellington Lounge is an ideal meeting place for an early morning coffee and pastries, famed afternoon tea or an all-day menu featuring classic seasonal dishes.

ELIZABETHAN ROYAL TEA

A tale of two Elizabeths

Centuries may separate Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II's reigns, yet here, at InterContinental London Park Lane on the site of our late queen's former childhood residence, their tales intertwine.

Together, their shared love for decadent teas and confections shaped the sophisticated tradition of afternoon tea as we know it.

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present. Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat. No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Your royal treatment continues with bespoke tea blends inspired by the two queens, created exclusively for InterContinental London Park Lane by The East India Company.

The Elizabeth I blend is a regal infusion of Ceylon black tea. Hints of clove, nutmeg, sweet almond and orange, highly prized spices of the era, evoke the grandeur of Queen Elizabeth I's reign.

Web Scraped Data

Meanwhile, the Elizabeth II blend celebrates Her Majesty's voyages across the Commonwealth, blending rooibos from South Africa with vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals.

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant. For a final treat, savour exquisite chocolates and truffles by Charbonnel et Walker, Britain's first luxury chocolatier and also a Royal Warrant holder.

As you sip, taste and enjoy the delights of this Elizabethan Royal Tea, an ode to two remarkable queens, feel transformed by a regal grace that lingers long after your final bite.

ELIZABETHAN ROYAL TEA

A tale of two Elizabeths

Centuries may separate Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II's reigns, yet here, at InterContinental London Park Lane on the site of our late queen's former childhood residence, their tales intertwine. Together, their shared love for decadent teas and confections shaped the sophisticated tradition of afternoon tea as we know it.

We invite you to sample the tastes of the two distinguished queens with a delectable array of finely crafted sweet delicacies and savoury delights hailing from noble menus of past and present. Each morsel is served on the finest Renaissance Gold teaware set by Wedgwood, a Royal Warrant holder, for an authentic regal experience.

Dine like a true monarch with desserts such as our rhubarb and champagne syllabub with sablé biscuit, a favourite of the 16th-century Elizabeth, before relishing a rich chocolate biscuit cake inspired by our late queen's affinity for the treat. No afternoon tea is complete without an assortment of savoury sandwiches to balance the sweet pastries, especially our coronation chicken sandwich. This flavour sensation is our modern interpretation of the 1953 invention served at

Elizabeth II's coronation luncheon.

Your royal treatment continues with bespoke tea blends inspired by the two queens, created exclusively for InterContinental London Park Lane by The East India Company.

The Elizabeth I blend is a regal infusion of Ceylon black tea. Hints of clove, nutmeg, sweet almond and orange, highly prized spices of the era, evoke the grandeur of Queen Elizabeth I's reign.

Meanwhile, the Elizabeth II blend celebrates Her Majesty's voyages across the Commonwealth, blending rooibos from South Africa with vanilla from Sri Lanka and delicate rose petals.

Tea was more than a social occasion for the two queens, it was a cherished ritual. Elizabeth I, known for her patronage of The East India Company founded in 1600 during her reign, turned tea into an exclusive experience shared with her closest confidants. Sharing a passion for this formal pleasure, Elizabeth I enjoyed a freshly brewed morning pot of a personalised blend.

As you immerse yourself in the exquisite flavours and rich history of this afternoon tea, sip on a glass of Veuve Clicquot Champagne, another favourite of Elizabeth II, who granted the house a Royal Warrant. For a final treat, savour exquisite chocolates and truffles by Charbonnel et Walker, Britain's first luxury chocolatier and also a Royal Warrant holder.

As you sip, taste and enjoy the delights of this Elizabethan Royal Tea, an ode to two remarkable queens, feel transformed by a regal grace that lingers long after your final bite.

History of Beef Wellington

A dish renowned for its luxury and elegance, Beef Wellington has a fascinating history interwoven with culinary traditions and notable historical figures.

The most popular theory links Beef Wellington to Arthur Wellesley, the first Duke of Wellington, who famously defeated Napoleon at the Battle of Waterloo in 1815.

The dish is believed to have been named in his honour, possibly because its appearance resembled the highly polished military boots he wore in battle, known as 'Wellingtons'.

Some food historians propose that Beef Wellington is an adaptation of the traditional French dish 'filet de bœuf en croûte' (fillet of beef in pastry). The British may have embraced and renamed this dish during or after the Napoleonic Wars.

History of Beef Wellington

A dish renowned for its luxury and elegance, Beef Wellington has a fascinating history interwoven with culinary traditions and notable historical figures.

O R I G I N

The most popular theory links Beef Wellington to Arthur Wellesley, the first Duke of Wellington, who famously defeated Napoleon at the Battle of Waterloo in 1815.

The dish is believed to have been named in his honour, possibly because its appearance resembled the highly polished military boots he wore in battle, known as 'Wellingtons'.

Some food historians propose that Beef Wellington is an adaptation of the traditional French dish 'filet de bœuf en croûte' (fillet of beef in pastry). The British may have embraced and renamed this dish during or after the Napoleonic Wars.

D I D Y O U K N O W ?

Apsley House, the distinguished London townhouse of the Duke of Wellington, is situated at Hyde Park Corner, directly to the west of our hotel, and faces the grand roundabout where the iconic Wellington Arch stands proudly at its heart.

Quintessentially British Garden Games

for the whole family

We have partnered with Jaques of London, one of the world's oldest luxury toymakers (est. 1795) to create a quintessentially British Garden Games experience.

Available complimentary to everyone staying at InterContinental London Park Lane, our Garden Games can be enjoyed in two of the city's most iconic Royal Parks, Green Park and Hyde Park, which are just a stone's throw away.

Choose from croquet, badminton, giant tumble towers, quoits or rounders, and soak up the atmosphere of summer afternoons in Mayfair. Our Concierge team have been trained by British garden games expert, Martin Dock, following the original Jaques of London rule book, and they will be on hand to assist you with any questions or queries.

The Best of British hamper

To make your experience even more enjoyable, we have introduced the Best of British hamper. The picnic fit for an afternoon in the Royal Parks includes: charcuterie, British cheeses, sandwiches, smoked cheddar and pea quiche, sausage rolls, pork pies, vegetable crudités with hummus, and a selection of salads. Classic Battenberg, chocolate brownies and cheesecake will end your day on a suitably sweet note.

The Best of British hamper is available from £50 per person or with a bottle of Ruinart Champagne at £110.

The Garden Games experience is bookable via our Concierge Team.

Quintessentially British Garden Games

for the whole family

Web Scraped Data

We have partnered with Jaques of London, one of the world's oldest luxury toymakers (est. 1795) to create a quintessentially British Garden Games experience.

Available complimentary to everyone staying at InterContinental London Park Lane, our Garden Games can be enjoyed in two of the city's most iconic Royal Parks, Green Park and Hyde Park, which are just a stone's throw away.

Choose from croquet, badminton, giant tumble towers, quoits or rounders, and soak up the atmosphere of summer afternoons in Mayfair. Our Concierge team have been trained by British garden games expert, Martin Dock, following the original Jaques of London rule book, and they will be on hand to assist you with any questions or queries.

The Best of British hamper

To make your experience even more enjoyable, we have introduced the Best of British hamper. The picnic fit for an afternoon in the Royal Parks includes: charcuterie, British cheeses, sandwiches, smoked cheddar and pea quiche, sausage rolls, pork pies, vegetable crudités with hummus, and a selection of salads. Classic Battenberg, chocolate brownies and cheesecake will end your day on a suitably sweet note.

The Best of British hamper is available from £50 per person or with a bottle of Ruinart Champagne at £110.

The Garden Games experience is bookable via our Concierge Team.

Quintessentially British Garden Games

for the whole family

We have partnered with Jaques of London, one of the world's oldest luxury toymakers (est. 1795) to create a quintessentially British Garden Games experience.

Available complimentary to everyone staying at InterContinental London Park Lane, our Garden Games can be enjoyed in two of the city's most iconic Royal Parks, Green Park and Hyde Park, which are just a stone's throw away.

Choose from croquet, badminton, giant tumble towers, quoits or rounders, and soak up the atmosphere of summer afternoons in Mayfair. Our Concierge team have been trained by British garden games expert, Martin Dock, following the original Jaques of London rule book, and they will be on hand to assist you with any questions or queries.

The Best of British hamper

To make your experience even more enjoyable, we have introduced the Best of British hamper. The picnic fit for an afternoon in the Royal Parks includes: charcuterie, British cheeses, sandwiches, smoked cheddar and pea quiche, sausage rolls, pork pies, vegetable crudités with hummus, and a selection of salads. Classic Battenberg, chocolate brownies and cheesecake will end your day on a suitably sweet note.

The Best of British hamper is available from £50 per person or with a bottle of Ruinart Champagne at £110.

The Garden Games experience is bookable via our Concierge Team.
